"My Life, Deleted"

Scott Bolzan

Former NFL Player, Pilot, Entrepreneur, Husband, Father, Brain Injury Survivor

Joan Bolzan RN, MSL

Executive, Registered Nurse, Mother, Wife of a Brain Injury Survivor

Scott and Joan Bolzan's commitment and true love for each other has preserved their relationship and kept them optimistic through tragedies and triumphs on their journey of life together. They have defined a higher sense of purpose for their lives, through the loss of their first daughter, a drug addiction of their only son, Joan's reoccurring depression and Scott's career defeats and challenges as an NFL player, his becoming a pilot and owner/entrepreneur of a successful private aviation company, and most recently his devastating brain injury that erased the memories of his 46-year life.

Scott's memoir, co-written with his wife Joan, My Life, Deleted, hit the New York Times Best Sellers List the first week released from Harper Collins, October 4th 2011. Sought after keynote speakers, the Bolzans share their remarkable story and how their business and personal life lessons apply to a variety of groups, including business organizations, athletic associations, educational institutions, and brain injury associations. Some of their speaking clients include Sprint, Walgreens, Tucson Medical Center, CBS Outdoor, Udall Law Firm, The University of Phoenix, Northern Illinois University, Carondelet Hospital and Business Clubs of America. They can be booked together or separately. The Bolzans custom-tailored talks are candid, heartfelt, filled with humor, and leave audiences inspired and understanding that "Whatever Life Brings, Look For Opportunity."

"I listened to Scott and Joan recount their journey and challenges with passion, a sense of humor, but also with great insight into their lives and future. I came away with an abiding sense of purpose and a renewed dedication to my own life and family to live in the moment and take nothing for granted.... Therefore, one of the messages that we learn listening to Joan and Scott is that even after all has been taken away, if you have built a life based on sound moral values, you can and will pull through because your foundation is rock solid....their story is an inspiration for love, courage and hope, to which we should all aspire." — Thom Cope J.D SPHR, Udall Law
